DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 3 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claims 3 and 4, the phrase "or any similar" renders the claim(s) indefinite because the claim(s) include(s) elements not actually disclosed (those encompassed by "or the like"), thereby rendering the scope of the claim(s) unascertainable. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Minematsu (US 2002/0022500 A1).

Regarding claim 1, Minematsu discloses a media player, comprising:

a reading unit, which is designed to read digital/analog audio data from an external storage media (para. 007);

a processing unit (10), which controls said reading unit to read audio data and transfers said audio data to the converting unit;

a converting unit (part of 2), which converts said audio data into RF signals; and a transmitting unit (1 in combination of a part of element 2), which amplifies said RF signals and then transmits them to enable audio sets to receive and play said RF signals.

Regarding claim 2, although not explicitly shown, a connector is inherently provided in Minematsu in order to connect to the external storage media.

Regarding claim 3, Minematsu shows that said external storage media comprises a MP3 player, CD player, mini memory card, multimedia player, or any similar storage media.

Regarding claim 4, Minematsu shows that the transmitting formats of said transmitting unit comprise high frequency, infrared, laser, blue teeth, or any similar radio transmission format.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Minematsu.

Regarding claim 5, Minematsu fails to explicitly show that the reading unit, converting unit, and transmitting unit are directly embedded in the processing unit. Minematsu discloses a portable telephone device, which was in small size. Examiner takes Official Notice that this feature is notoriously well known in the art in order to make a compact apparatus. Thus, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify Minematsu by directly embedded the reading unit, converting unit, and transmitting unit in the processing unit in order to make a compact cellular telephone.
